THE rising sun is certain of homage. Gladstone has been so overwhelmed with congratulations, inquiries, and epistolary attention generally that in sheer self-defense he has been forced to send this card o one of the London papers:

to one of the London papers:

"You will much oblige me by acquainting the public through your columns that the number of communications now reaching me without intermission, by post and telegraph, has become so great that, although exerting myself to the best of my ability, and although the character of these communications, generally, is in the highest degree encouraging and friendly, I can not, as to letters, guarantee their being answered, or even read." ing answered, or even read.'

THE fifteen great American inventions of world-wide adoption are: 1. The cotton 2. The planing machine. 3. The grass mower and reaper. 4. The rotary printing press. 5. Navigation by steam. 6. The bot air engine. 7. The sewing machine. 8. The India rubber industry. 9. The machine manufacture of horsesh 10. The sand blast for carving. 11. The gauge lathe. 12. The grain elevator. 13. Artificial ice making on a large scale. 14. The electric magnet and its practical application. 15. The composing machine for printers. A sixteenth must be added

THE first two Republican National Con ventions ever held-it is well observed by the Albany Journal-came together in response to calls for delegates from "each Congressional district." The Conventions of 1884 at Baltimore; 1868, at Chicago; 1872, at Philadelphia; and 1876, at Cincinnati, were conducted somewhat differently. They authorized each State to send a number of delegates equal to twice the number of its members of Cor gress," or "equal to "twice the number o its Presidential Electors." Spite of the call by States, the Conventions of 1868 and 1876 abrogated, or disregarded, the unit rule adopted by State Conventions. Now it appears that the call for the Chicago Convention returns to the earliest practice of the party. Republicans this year are invited to send "two delegates from each Congressional district, four at large from each State, two from each Territory, and two from the District of Columbia." This shows that the original wording of the call has been resumed; and that-whether accidental or not-the Republican party has one back to the earlier Conventions of 1856 and 1860 in giving more prominen to district representation. If the Nations Convention could not regard the unit rule when the call was issued to States how can it do so when the call is to districts Representation by district is the true and fair plan. It should be adopted not only this year by the Chicago Convention, but

POLITICAL PARALYSIS.

Virginia and West Virginia Stagnation WASHINGTON, April 15.

An article in the INTELLIGENCER calling attention to the fact that of the great army of immigrants now seeking homes in this one stop in West Virginia, come opes of the condition of affairs in the Old Dominion. Both of these States are rich in natural resources, being abundant rials which contribute the wealth and Pennsylvania, which is one of your near est neighbors. Yet both Virginia and West Virginia furnish striking examples of stagnation in an era of unexampled ess and prosperity in other States. Virginia, however, is awakening from the long continued lethargy, and which de-cay has entered into her vitals, and it is possible that she may soon begin to show rapid strides forward. The first step was taken by Virginia last winter in the elecpossible that she may soon begin to show rapid strides forward. The first step was taken by Virginia last winter in the election of General Mahone U. S. Sonator, a man who announces that he sees the cause of his State's improverished condition in her mistaken public policy. Virginia has been held down by a party of the past, and he proposes to join his fortunes with the Republicans, the party of progress, when he takes his seat in the Senate. It may be that some better man than a Readjuster should have been found to lead Virginia out of the slough of despond in which she has been wallowing for years, but if she should be led out finally, the means may come to be regarded as justified by the end. West Virginia ought mot become a "readjusting?" State in the senae that Virginia is nome localities in that State are evidently nearly ripe for repudiation nor "readjustment" of its honest debts that West Virginia some localities in that State are evidently nearly ripe for repudiation nor some form. It is not repudiation nor "readjustment" of its honest debts that West Virginia show the work of the political shackles that now bind her to the ghosts of the past and open her arms to the party of prosperity that favors free speech, free schools, a free ballot, and homes for all without regard to previous condition. Virginia is not alone in this awakening to the actual condition of affairs north and south, in which the Southern picture is not a happy one, but North Carolina, Georgia and Tennesses are now on the verge of becoming Republican. Men like Alex, H. Stephens, Dr. Felton and young Speer of Georgia are so independent that the Democratic misjority in the House can neither lead nor diversible that the season of the past of the most lafluential men in the House. There is no good reason why West Virginia should permit herself to fall behind in the strong of the past of the past of the most lafluential men in the House. Senator Hereford has gone back to West Virginia again this week, having returned from there only on Mon somewhat interested in political matters in the Third district, but he has a better excuse than that for this second visit, which is that he is engaged as counsel in an important case to be tried at the present term of the Circuit Court in Summers county. It is quite noticeable that at this season of the year a great many men in Washington society have fences to repair or houses to whitewash at their rural homes among their constituency.

extensively this week from Senator Davis' against, and one for. So endsth the ques recent remarks on finances, when pre-senting a petition from West Virginia, also giving the tables showing the amount of coin and paper money in circulation among the leading nations of the world. Commenting on this the bankers world. Commenting on this the bankers say:

"Mr. Davis has evidently made himself familiar with his subject by hard study and thorough research. If some of the members of Congress who are frequently introducing bills for regulating the currency of the country would follow his example, much valuable time might be saved, and a display of financial ignorance would be of less frequent occurrence. We differ with Mr. Davis in regard to the increase of National Bank circulation at the rate of a million a month. It is true that the banks are at this time increasing their circulation, because the demand for money from the largely increased business of the country makes it profitable for the banks to put out their circulation. But it is also true that for several years past when business was dull, that not only the circulation but also the capital of the banks was very largely reduced. Therefore, we think a million per month increase in circulation is hardly a fair estimate for the future."

Senator Davis had a talk with Secretary Sherman this morning on the boop-iron question which is still pending in the Ways and Means Committee. The Secretary stated that he did not think the committee would decide en anything in that connection and he expects to issue an order on the 17th as heretofore stated for the collection of the specific duty on hoop-iron.

A bill introduced by Mr. Butterworth of Ohio, contains a number of whereases that Edwin M. Shield received letters patent for the construction of snag boats that the government has been for twelve that the government has been for twenty years and now is using that patent on all snag boats upon western rivers; that neither Shields nor his heirs ever received any remuneration from the government, and therefore the Secretary of Treasury is authorized to pay to Shields' heirs fifty thousand dollars on account of the snag boats. Every snag now raised from the boats. Every snag now raised from the in silver under the present system, and the Shields family appear to be willing make them cost their weight in gold AN INDIAN CONSPIRACY.

A queer conspiracy, that if carried into execution, would have made Acklin's fraudulent report on the Nicaraugu claim pale with insignificance has just been unearthed in the House Committee on Indian Affairs. Some days ago Judge Scales, o that committee, went home to North that committee, went home to North Carolina, whereupon General Hunter, of Mississippi's succeeded him as chairman. Hunter is generally opposed to the appropriation committee, and as soon as he temporarily succeeded to the chair on Indian affairs several meetings of the committee were held, and some important business undertaken. A copy of the Indian appropriation bill was sent for, and communications opened up with Secretary Schurz, with the Indian Commissioner and with the chief clerk of the Indian Bureau on the subject of the financial wants of the Indian service. The result of their deliberations were an addition to the Indian appropriation bill amounting to $700,000. appropriation bill amounting to $700,00 This was approved by the committee, at was to have been reported as a substitute for the regular Indian appropriation bill but at the last moment, as often occurs in conspiracies, the conspirators weakened, and none of them had courage enough to offer the result of their unlawful labors to the House. The Indian committee has no authority to report appropriation bills.

A lengthy address of Mr, Morris Miller resident of the C. & P. railroad Mutual Benefit association, to the Association is Benefit association, to the Association is published. It sets forth the prosperity of the concern, and points out changes that can be made advantageously in their bylaws. The membership has considerably more than doubled in the last year. The financial condition of the association is such, that no levy will probably be needed for more than two years.
